

Biofidelic Instrumented Head Replica (IHHR)

For the experimental evaluation of helmet protection effectiveness, a Biofidelic Replica has been developed, featuring synthetic Skin / Skull / Fluid / Meninges / Brain. The properties of the synthetic materials simulate those of biological tissues.

It includes sensors for measuring dynamic cerebrospinal fluid pressure during impacts.

The brain contains accelerometers and dynamic stress/strain sensors within the synthetic brain matter.

UNIVERSITÀ
DEGLI STUDI
DI PADOVA

[Baldoin E., et al., 2023]

